breaks for energy companies as part of a broader package to reduce the federal deficit. ADVERTISEMENT “There is only one group of people that needs to see a tax break on their energy consumption,” Booker said at a Senate Finance Committee hearing.
“The one group that needs to see a tax break are coal miners and coal workers.” “This is the part of the economic equation that is really sucking up money that is just plain available and not productive,” he continued. “If we are going to put this nation back on track, the only group that needs this help are the people in Appalachia and the coal region.” “I would say that is a pretty basic thing that we need to look at, and it is way past time,” Booker added. Sen. Tom Harkin Thomas (Tom) Richard HarkinThe
